Grant of Awards is within the full discretion of the Award Committee. The Award Committee is not required to grant an Award each year or to grant an Award of the full amount each year. Existence of the Award does not create a right of any applicant to receive an award nor obligate the company or Award Committee to grant an Award. By submitting an application, each applicant agrees that:

Companions & Homemakers, Inc., may use the name and likeness of any Award recipient in any printed material, email, announcement, brochure, press release or other purpose. Each applicant agrees to hold harmless and fully release the Award Committee and its members, the company, its officers, directors, shareholders, employees, agents and assigns from any and all loss and liability of any kind and nature whatsoever by reason of the Award, including but not limited to any application filed, any vote taken by the Award Committee, payment (or non-payment) of the Award, acceptance (or non-acceptance) or application by any academic institution of Award proceeds, any publication of the Award or use of the Recipients' name or likeness, and payment of the Award to any person or party directly or on the applicant's behalf or any other matter.

The Award may be used to defray tuition costs to attend any post-secondary school; provided, the Award may not be used for programs that are 'on-line' only. The Award is not payable until the Recipient has commenced (at least) their second semester in good academic standing and is not payable in an amount exceeding one semester of tuition fees. A prior recipient of the Award is not eligible to apply for or receive a second Award. The Award may be paid to the academic institution, or to the Recipient or Recipient's family as reimbursement upon proof of tuition paid to the institution. The Award Committee is able to pledge payment to the institution in advance of the second semester as needed; provided, payment shall not be made until the commencement of the second (or later) semester. Applicants may apply for the award with no regard as to whether they are in their first, second, third or final year of coursework.
